

Le Dîner de Cons (The Idiot's Dinner)

By Francis Veber

Play: 642

Opening: 7/07/10

Translated by Yosef El-Dror

Directed by Moshe Kepten

Set Design: Eran Atzmon

Costume Design: Eelena Kelrich

Music: Arik Avigdor

Lighting Design: Meir Alon

Movement: Eldar Groisman

CAST

Pierre Brouchant: Rami Heuberger

Christine Brouchant: Yael Zafrir

François Pignon: Yaacov Cohen

Prof. Sorbier: Michael Koresh/Uri Hochman

Marlène: Riki Blich

Jozet LeBlanc: Amnon Wolf

Lucien Cheval: Shimon Cohen

The wealthy editor Pierre Brochant and his friends have a competition: every week, each one of them invites the dumbest guy he can find to dinner –in order that they can make fun of him. Later, after the guest leaves, the group of friends decide on the most stupid and imbecilic guest.

This evening, Pierre invites François Pignon, a man who works in the Internal Revenue Service and makes 'maquettes' to forget his beloved wife, who had run away with a friend of his. Pierre thinks his 'idiot' François, will surely steal the show, but clumsy and stupid François makes things go unexpectedly wrong...