Gustav, Fernand and René are three World War One veterans, who pass their monotonous days in military hospital by engaging in verbal battles of long-forgotten military campaigns, fantasies about young women, grumblings about the staff, and reflections on their lives. René is afflicted by a gammy leg, Gustave suffers from agoraphobia, and Fernand passes out because of a piece of shrapnel lodged in his brain. Their cantankerous camaraderie becomes strained when they start to think about an escape plan, and dream of freedom.
