

Thodore

By Eric Schneider

Play no. 266

Opening show 26/10/1971

Creative team

Directed by: Nico Nitai

Hebrew By: Ada Ben-Nachum

Designer: Joseph Karl

Lighting: Michael Lieberman

Cast

Bertha Aronius: Batya Lancet

Cora Aronius: Shoshana Duer/ Pnina Perach

Lisa Aronius: Yael Droujanoff

Judy Aronius: Tikva Mor

Three women are carrying the burden of their common dream.

Three withering sisters in a hothouse atmosphere of past sorrows waiting for their dream prince to appear.

But their quiet is shattered by the arrival of from America of their niece, their brother's daughter – the representative of a new world, no less confusing and frightening than the old one. A wild storm sparks into action the frozen hands of time to wake the women from their deep sleep and inspires a craze dance around the awaited happiness. The masks fall, illusions are shattered, and by the end of the race, three sad women face their fate, but this time with some hope for the future.